Course Description: This course prepares Instructors to deliver the knowledge and skills associated with the educational delivery of Hazardous Materials Awareness and Operations (NFPA 1072-17).

The purpose of the HMA&O course is to develop the knowledge and skills of emergency responders, so they are able to safely and effectively operate at a hazardous materials incident. The program has been designed to meet the training needs of responders to function at the defensive operational level. Current federal regulations and professional standards found in OSHA and NFPA are the framework for this course.

PREREQUISITES: Fire Instructor 1 (NFPA 1021-12), HazMat Awareness & Ops (NFPA 1072-17)

Session #421-24008
